PURPOSE

This report serves two purposes. First, it provides a brief summary of the process being used by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to evaluate parties that may be liable for response costs associated with sediment contamination at the Commencement Bay Nearshore/Tideflats (CBN/T) Superfund site. Second, it sets forth the categories to which all such parties are currently assigned. A party that is associated with more than one property or facility may be assigned to a different classification category for each property or facility. This may occur, for example, when it is determined that one facility owned by a party is not contributing to sediment contamination at the site, while further information is needed to determine whether a second facility owned by the same party is contributing to the contamination. In the first case, the party would be screened from further evaluation (Category A or B). In the second case, the party would be assigned to a category designating that more information is needed (Category C, D, or G).

INTRODUCTION

Potentially responsible party (PRP) search activities for the CBN/T Superfund site began in 1988 with a review of EPA, Washington Department of Ecology (Ecology), and Tacoma-Pierce County Health Department (TPCHD) files to evaluate properties and facilities within the CBN/T drainage basin. General Notice Letters (GNLs) and Requests for Information (RFIs) were then sent in April 1989 to 133 current owners and operators of properties and facilities that were potentially contributing to sediment contamination, and to the owners of parcels that contained contaminated marine sediments in the 9 problem areas identified within the site. These owners and operators are referred to as PRPs. Many new parties (NPs) that may have contributed to sediment contamination have since been identified through RFI responses from original PRPs, historical document reviews, and Ecology onsite investigations of ongoing sources. NPs are primarily businesses or individuals that owned a parcel (or facility) or operated a facility in the past. Based on this new information, GNLs and RFIs were sent in July 1991 to 25 NPs determined to be potentially responsible for sediment contamination in the Sitcum Waterway problem area. Additional GNLs and RFIs will be sent to NPs associated with other problem areas in the future.

PRP EVALUATION PROCESS

All PRPs must be evaluated to determine whether they should be sent Special Notice Letters (SNLs) informing them that they will be held liable for cleanup and restoration costs at the site. Similarly, all NPs must be evaluated to determine whether they should be sent a GNL and an RFI, and subsequently, an SNL. Alternatively, PRPs and NPs that will not be pursued need to be identified so that they can be screened from further PRP search activities.

The method being used to evaluate PRPs and NPs for these purposes, and the categories to which PRPs and NPs are assigned as they move through the evaluation process, are shown in Figure 1. This figure has been modified from previous versions to reflect refinements in the PRP search strategy over time.

PRP and NP screening activities are taking place at different times in the overall evaluation process. Specifically, the PRP screening evaluation is taking place after sending GNLs and RFIs. Information obtained from the 1988 agency file reviews (i.e., EPA, Ecology, and TPCHD) and the information provided in the RFI responses is being considered in this evaluation. In contrast, an "up front" screening evaluation of NPs using available agency information and information provided in the PRP RFI responses is being conducted before sending GNLs and RFIs. The agency information being used in the NP screening evaluation was obtained in 1990-91 from EPA, Ecology, TPCHD, and the City of Tacoma Sewer Utility Division. The results of this evaluation are being used as the basis for determining whether an NP should then be sent a GNL and an RFI. When this screening evaluation determines that sending a GNL and an RFI is appropriate, the NP is then referred to as a PRP and joins the PRP evaluation process after the PRP screening step, as shown in Figure 1.

PRP AND NEW PARTY CATEGORIES

The PRP and NP categories set forth in Figure 1 are described below. These discussions also provide information on the current status of PRP and NP evaluations.

Category A PRPs that have been screened out of the PRP search. In general, PRPs are currently assigned to Category A only if 1) the property with which they are associated is found to drain to a non-problem area; 2) they were sent a GNL and an RFI for a property, but were later found not to be associated with that property; 3) it has been determined that no problem chemicals are or were used; or 4) it has been determined that a source is insignificant and a pathway does not exist. To date, the latter two criteria have only been used to place PRPs associated with Sitcum Waterway into Category A. Pending further evaluation of RFI responses and agency information, additional PRPs may be placed in Category A for any one of these reasons. PRPs assigned to Category A will not be pursued further unless warranted by a review of additional information gained through other PRP search activities.

Category B NPs that have been screened out of the PRP search. In general, NPs are currently assigned to Category B only if 1) the agencies have no information; 2) based on a review of the business type it is determined that no problem chemicals are or were used; or 3) no activity occurred on the property during ownership. Following a review of information provided by agencies and PRPs, additional NPs may be placed into Category B if that information indicates that no problem chemicals were used, a

release has not occurred or is insignificant, or a pathway does not exist. NPs assigned to Category B will not be pursued further unless warranted by a review of additional information gained through other PRP search activities.	Category D PRPs that have been sent a GNL and an RFI. Once original parties or NPs are sent a GNL and an RFI, they are referred to as PRPs and are placed in Category D. PRPs in Category D currently include the parties sent a GNL and an RFI in April 1989 and July 1991. After screening the original PRPs (see the discussion at the beginning of this section), all remaining PRPs (both the original PRPs and the NPs that have since been sent a GNL) will be evaluated to determine the appropriateness of sending an SNL. In some cases, additional information may be needed to make this determination. If so, this information may be sought directly from the PRP (e.g., sending a follow-up RFI requesting additional information or elaboration on previously provided information), agency actions (e.g., site inspections), interviews, or legal analyses by EPA. A situation in which it may be appropriate to gather additional information would be one where the quality of existing information is questionable. For example, a written statement from a third party would not be considered of equal quality as the same information provided in an official agency document. Criteria used to evaluate the quality of evidence are discussed in the Sitcum Waterway Problem Area Status Report (PTI 1991). Once all necessary information is gathered, these PRPs will move to Category E (see below).
Category C	NPs that require further evaluation to determine whether they are potentially responsible for sediment contamination within the CBN/T site, and thus whether they should be sent a GNL and an RFI. To date, NPs in Category C include only those facility owners and operators for which the agencies have information, or owners of properties that may be sources of sediment contamination within the site. Following an evaluation of facility information gathered from the agencies, the facility owner or operator will be screened out and placed in Category B (see Category B above), or placed in Category D and sent a GNL and an RFI (see Category D below). In most cases, when facility owners or operators using a property are screened out, the owner of the property will also be screened out. An exception to this scenario might occur when all facility operators are screened out, but the property is known to be contaminated with problem chemicals. In this case, the property owner would probably not be screened out. If a facility owner or operator is sent a GNL and an RFI, a GNL and an RFI will also be sent to the property owner.

Category E PRPs for which adequate information exists to support an evaluation of whether they should be sent an SNL. All information gathered in previous steps of the PRP search process will be used to prioritize Category E PRPs for being sent SNLs. Criteria that may be considered in prioritizing these PRPs include documented use of a problem chemical, release of a problem chemical, or presence of a pathway. The volume and quality of such evidence may be considered in this prioritization process. For PRPs that will be sent an SNL, it may be appropriate to continue gathering information to establish a more detailed administrative record.

Category F Parties identified in the original review of agency files that have been screened out of the PRP search because of business type or lack of information, or because the property a party was associated with was found to drain to a non-problem area. Parties in Category F are not shown on Figure 1 because they were eliminated from consideration before the evaluation process began. Parties assigned to Category F will not be pursued further unless warranted by a review of additional information gained through PRP search activities.

Category G PRPs that have been sent a GNL and an RFI for a property or facility and are now being considered for PRP status for another facility or property in the same or a different problem area. These PRPs will not be sent a second GNL for the new location. However, they may be sent a supplemental RFI requesting information specific to the newly identified location.

The number of PRPs and NPs that have been assigned to Categories A-G for each problem area, as well as the total number of PRPs and NPs that are associated with each problem area are shown in Table 1. This table also provides the total number of PRPs and NPs associated with each problem area, the total number excluding those assigned to Category F, and the total number excluding those screened out of the evaluation process (Categories A, B, and F). The number of PRPs and NPs assigned to the PRP categories for each problem area exceeds the total number of PRPs and NPs associated with each problem area because, as noted earlier, a PRP or NP that is associated with more than one property may be assigned to a different category for each property. Thus, one PRP or NP may be assigned to more than one category within a problem area or to different categories for properties located in different problem areas. Although not considered problem areas in the CBN/T Superfund site, Blair Waterway and Commencement Bay have been included in this table because, in a limited number of cases, PRPs or NPs that may warrant additional follow-up have been assigned to these areas. For example, it is known that the surface water of one parcel drains to Blair Waterway, but additional investigation is needed to determine whether the groundwater flows to Blair Waterway or Hylebos Waterway.

PRP STATUS REPORT ORGANIZATION

The remaining sections of this PRP Status Report provide a summary of the PRP categories to which all PRPs and NPs in the CBN/T Superfund site (excluding the Ruston Shoreline) are currently assigned. Table 2 provides an alphabetical listing of all PRPs and NPs identified to date; the waterway(s), parcel(s), and address(es) with which they are associated; the category that the PRP or NP has been assigned to for each identified parcel; and, in most cases, the reason for being assigned to the particular category. A reason for PRPs and NPs being assigned to Categories C, D, and G has generally not been provided because these parties are all at the same stage in the evaluation process (i.e., further evaluation is needed to determine whether they should be retained in the process or screened out). A later status report could provide information on the specific activities that need to be performed to further evaluate the status of PRPs and NPs in these categories. For Hylebos Waterway, some parcels have been assigned specifically to the Head of Hylebos rather than to Hylebos in general. The parcels assigned to the Head of Hylebos include only those parcels that drain to Hylebos Creek. Additional parcels may be assigned to the Head of Hylebos following further evaluation, and a similar evaluation will also be done for the Head and Mouth of Foss Waterway. This table further illustrates how a PRP or NP may be assigned to different categories for different properties.

Tables 3-10 present information on each problem area (including Blair Waterway and Commencement Bay). The table for each problem area is organized alphabetically by category (A-G). Within each category, entries are organized alphabetically by the name of the PRP or NP. Each table also provides the parcels and addresses with which each PRP or NP is associated and the reason that the PRP or NP has been assigned to a particular category for the identified parcel and address. As in Table 2, a reason for PRPs and NPs being assigned to Categories C, D, and G has generally not been provided. The information provided in these tables will be useful in identifying activities that should be conducted in the next stage of the PRP search for the CBN/T Superfund site.

COMMENCEMENT BAY SUPERFUND SITE

PRP Status Code	Description
A	PRP; received GNL but screened out because 1) no use or release(s) of a problem chemical(s), 2) no pathway to a problem area, or 3) release was insignificant
B	New party (NP); screened out because 1) lack of available information, 2) no use or release(s) of a problem chemical(s), 3) no pathway to a problem area, or 4) release was insignificant
C	New party (NP); requires further evaluation to determine potential liability (i.e., whether to send a GNL)
D	PRP; sent GNL but requires further evaluation to establish liability (i.e., whether to send an SNL)
E	PRP; adequate information exists to support sending an SNL
F	Original party; screened out during initial evaluation conducted in 1989
G	PRP; sent GNL for a property or facility; now being considered for potential liability for a newly identified property or facility

Note: A party associated with more than one property or facility may be assigned a different PRP status for each.
